ARTICLE 4: PROCEEDINGS AND LANGUAGES

4.2. Right to ask questions

Current form:

“ 4.2. Right to ask questions

Members of the JPSG may address both oral and written questions to Europol. Written questions may also be asked outside the meeting framework and independently of items listed on the agenda and shall be answered within an appropriate timeframe. The questions shall reflect the mandate of the JPSG as defined in Regulation (EU) 2016/794 (Europol Regulation). These questions shall be relayed to Europol after their admissibility has been checked by the Co-Chairs and the question is deemed to be in line with the Europol regulation. A further written reply can be requested in case the answer to an oral question is deemed insufficient. “

Proposed modifications:

1. The phrase "an appropriate timeframe" is to be replaced by “a six-week timeframe”;
2. The admissibility of the questions shall be checked by the Troika instead of the Co-Chairs;
3. The following new sentence will be inserted as the third sentence: “The admitted questions, as well as the answers provided by Europol, shall be submitted to all delegations and, unless subject to confidentiality restrictions, published on IPEX”.
